The Ontario & Western railroad will run an Easter excursion to Washington, D. C., over the Pennsylvania railroad.

Miss Myrtle Wright has resigned her position as a teacher in the Walton union schools on account of ill health and Miss Bessie Shackleton has been engaged to fill the vacancy. Miss Shackleton will complete her work in the Oneonta normal this month.

Engine company No. 5 will be organized as a unit of the Walton fire department to man the new American-LaFrance pump engine recently purchased by the village. This action was recommended by the firemen's board and approved by the village board at its meeting this week. When the pump engine arrived three men from each of the four companies in the department were designated to man the apparatus. The membership of the new company will be limited to twenty-five.

Peter Pappas, who recently purchased the Retz building, Delaware street, on the second floor of which the public rest rooms are located, has served notice upon the rest room committee that he will require the rooms for living purposes after February first. The rest room committee and the Chamber of Commerce, which co-operates in the maintenance expense, are looking for suitable quarters in which to move. The matter of financing must also receive attention as unless the rooms are better supported it may be necessary to discontinue this public convenience.

Burglars entered the house of Charles M. Thompson at Erie, Pa., one night shortly before Christmas and ransacked the place without disturbing Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, who were sleeping in an upstairs bedroom. Among the articles taken were a number of Christmas gifts, including some received and others wrapped for sending to friends. A new overcoat belonging to Mr. Thompson, a quantity of other clothing and some canned goods were also found missing the next morning. The thieves even ransacked the drawers of a dresser in an upstairs room without disturbing the occupants of the house. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson are former residents of Walton.

The Walton high school basketball five will open the season on the auditorium court this Friday, evening with a game with the Oneonta "hi." The Walton players this season are Clark, LaFrano, Depuy, Dutcher, Hawley and Lewis. The team defeated Sidney by a score of 36 to 13 in a game played in Sidney during the Christmas season. The Walton five belonged to the Delaware county league but the teams from Delhi and the schools in the eastern end of the county withdrew from this league apparently feeling they had no show against the Walton aggregation and then formed the Eastern Delaware County league from which Walton was excluded. The Walton school has filed a demand that the winner in the eastern county league be obliged to play the Walton five to determine which shall participate in the district meeting in the spring.

ONE WAY TO MILK A COW

Minister's Boy Tied Sled to Bossy's Tail, and She Didn't Lik't it.

(North Kortright correspondent.)

Real "movies," no film affair, afforded considerable amusement one day recently to residents of North Kortright. A boy, a cow and a sled made up the caste of characters and this is how the comedy was produced.

Joseph, fifteen-year-old son of Rev. R. R. Irwin, went to the barn that morning, as was his custom, to milk the cow. He noticed that her caudal appendage was defiled with "barn fertilizer" and at the same moment happened to see the rope attached to a sled that one of the younger children had left a little farther back in the stable. To avoid the possibility of a slap in the face he securely tied the cow's tail to this rope, finished his job and—his mind being occupied with arithmetical problems no doubt—forgot to untie the knot and went off to school.

A little later his father, not observing the sled or rope, let the cow-out to get a drink, and that is when the fun began. The puzzled bovine seeing that she was closely followed by some strange object, determined to get away from it. First she inscribed a circle around the manse and then made tracks for the state road, the sled meanwhile being in perpetual motion either thumping the ground or beating the fleeing beast, which was hotly pursued by her owner and several neighbors. Once the animal fell but regained her feet in a trice and the role continued until her second fall when she was caught, unharmed. Strange to say the sled was not smashed but it is safe to guess that Joseph has not been encouraged to originate more "movies" of a similar kind.
