Give the Gift of Camping this Holiday Season

New York State Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) Commissioner Basil Seggos announced that DEC gift cards and electronic gift certificates for stays and services at all DEC campgrounds are now available for purchase online.

Gift cards and electronic gift certificates can be purchased online. DEC camping gift cards are physical cards mailed to the designated recipient. Electronic gift certificates will be emailed to the purchaser for printing and/or emailing to the recipient.

DEC operates 52 campgrounds and five day-use areas in the Adirondack and Catskill forest preserves. The summer camping season runs through the summer, with some facilities remaining open during fall foliage and hunting seasons.

For more information on DEC-operated campgrounds, including a list of campgrounds and schedules, visit DEC's website, <https://www.dec.ny.gov/outdoor/camping.html>, or call DEC's Bureau of Recreation at 518-457-2500. To make reservations at any of these camping facilities, call ReserveAmerica at 1-800-456-CAMP (2267) or visit the ReserveAmerica website.

Girl Scouts Look to Team Up with Local Businesses, Community Orgs During 2021 Cookie Season

The Girl Scouts of NYPENN Pathways (GSNYPENN) Council serves girls in grades K-12 across 26 counties: Allegany, Broome, Cayuga, Chemung, Chenango, Cortland, Delaware, Herkimer, Jefferson, Lewis, Madison, Oneida, Onondaga, Ontario, Oswego, Otsego, St. Lawrence, Schuyler, Seneca, Steuben, Tioga, Tompkins, Wayne and Yates in New York and Bradford and Tioga in Pennsylvania. As the initial order-taking portion of the 2021 GSNYPENN Girl Scout Cookie Program approaches on Dec. 19, the council is looking for assistance from regional businesses and community organizations to help local girls have a positive and successful cookie season despite the continuing pandemic.

The GSNYPENN council is looking to connect with area businesses or community organizations in high-traffic areas with large parking lots to allow girls and their troop leaders to safely host drive-thru cookie booths beginning in February to maintain social distancing, abide by Covid-19 protocols and continue to serve the community. Troops also need inside, secure locations to set up and provide cookie delivery, storage and pickup. Places like empty storefronts, unoccupied businesses, etc.

The annual cookie program runs through the end of March and helps power Girl Scouts' activities for the year through experiences like community service projects, badge work, camp, travel and more all while girls gain important entrepreneurial, business and life skills. This major fundraiser is the lifeblood of the council—100 percent of proceeds (after paying the baker) are used to maintain the properties and programs used by local troops throughout the year.

"We're looking to help our GSNYPENN Girl Scouts have a positive and successful 2021 cookie program by connecting with our local communities to help host drive-thru booths and provide safe, secure locations for girls' cookie season logistics. We're getting creative to overcome the challenges our troops will once again face due to the pandemic," says Ray Mulno, Director of Retail Operations & Product Programs at GSNYPENN.

The council requires use of locations beginning in early February through the end of March. It will provide insurance information for business owners and organizations. Those who can assist will receive publicity through the official Girl Scout Cookie Finder app, GSNYPENN Community Partners Facebook page and any cookie season advertising the council places—which will, in turn, help drive additional customers to these businesses and community organizations' locations.

If your business or organization can help local Girl Scouts, please contact Ray Mulno at rmulno@gsnypenn.org or 315-698-9400 x2022.

Celebrate Hanukkah With Congregation Agudas Achim

Hanukkah, The Festival of Lights, begins Dec. 10. For Jewish people, this holiday celebrates the victory of a small group of dedicated soldiers, the Maccabees, over a tyrant king and his armies, intent on suppressing their human rights and forcing them to worship Greek gods. The Maccabees were able to retake the temple in Jerusalem from the king's soldiers but needed a way to reconsecrate the synagogue ruins by keeping a menorah (a seven-armed candelabra) lit constantly. They found a vessel that contained a small amount of oil with which to relight the menorah and although hopeful, they realized it would likely only burn for one night. The miracle was that it burned for eight nights.

Check out reform-judaism.org for fabulous Hanukkah recipes and more information about Hanukkah.

Congregation Agudas Achim will celebrate Hanukkah and Shabbat on Zoom on Friday, Dec. 11, at 7 p.m. (social time) and 7:30 for services. Have your Menorah or Chanukah ready to light together. Email virtualshabbat@gmail.com or call President Judy Siegel, 845-798-0783 for the Zoom link.

Delgado Introduces Bill Providing Student Loan Relief to Revitalize Rural Areas

WASHINGTON, DC - This week, U.S. Representative Antonio Delgado (NY-19) and Rep. Abby Finkenauer (IA-01) introduced the Rural Revitalization Now Act to provide up to $50,000 in student loan relief for people who commit to live and work in rural communities for at least eight years.

"Upstate New York is home to some of the best colleges in the world, but our towns and villages continue to see students move to metropolitan areas after graduation rather than build their lives in rural communities. A key component of that is the overly-burdensome student debt that forces young people to look for work elsewhere," said Rep. Delgado. "Today, I'm introducing legislation focused on attracting and retaining young people in rural communities by providing student loan relief to those who work and live in rural areas experiencing population loss. The Rural Revitalization Now Act will help ease the burden of student loan debt and encourage folks to settle down, find employment, and raise a family here in upstate."

"Rural depopulation has been a fact of life in Iowa and across the country for decades — diminishing economic opportunity and undermining quality of life. It's heartbreaking to see, but it doesn't have to be this way," Rep. Abby Finkenauer said. "The Rural Revitalization Now Act will allow young professionals to move back home, create new opportunities and find a real sense of community — while also relieving their student loan debt and building on their future."

The Rural Revitalization Now Act creates a program that would provide borrowers with student debt relief on their federal or private student loans if they live in a very rural area, a small or mid-sized community that is losing population, or a community that has been affected by a major disaster. The program would allow states, counties, localities, territories, Tribes, nonprofit entities, and qualifying partnerships to sponsor borrowers in conjunction with the federal government, by providing student debt relief of up to $50,000 over eight years. WRITERS IN THE MOUNTAINS (WIM) PRESENTS MICRO-MEMOIR WITH LINDA LOWEN

Writers in the Mountains (WIM) presents Micro-Memoir, a six-week long workshop with Linda Lowen, Jan. 8 - Feb. 12, 2021. The class will be held online Fridays, from 10 am to 12 noon. Once they register and pay, participants will be given instructions on how to join the class.

Memoir doesn't have to cover decades to tell a story. Sometimes a single moment, vividly depicted, illuminates a life. If you've wanted to write memoir but are overwhelmed at the immensity of the task—or you're already writing but need a fresh approach—consider micro memoir. The smaller format can be freeing, allowing you to focus on an event that serves as a microcosm of the larger experience. In this workshop you'll write short 200-word pieces and discover less is more. Weeks 5 and 6 we'll focus on Tiny Love Stories, relationship tales of 100 words or less, and you'll come away with one piece suitable to submit to the New York Times column of the same name.

A book reviewer for Publishers Weekly, Linda's nonfiction has been published in the New York Times and is forthcom-

Help Prevent Rabbit Hemorrhagic Disease from Harming New York's Rabbits and Hares

Rabbit Hemorrhagic Disease (RHD) is a fatal virus that affects rabbits and hares. A new strain, RHDV2, was identified in 2010. In 2020, RHDV2 jumped to wild rabbits and hares in the southwestern U.S., where it spread to six states within four months. The virus can infect wild rabbits and hares, in addition to domestic rabbits. RHDV2 is extremely hardy, easily transmitted, and highly lethal to rabbits and hares. It does not infect humans or other animals like dogs or cats. RHDV2 spreads easily through direct contact between rabbits or contact with contaminated environments or objects.

The most likely routes of introduction to New York are through transported domestic rabbits, internationally imported rabbit products, or people who travel to outbreak areas in the southwest. Below are ways you can help stop the spread:

- If you keep domestic rabbits, prevent intermingling with other rabbits. If you get new rabbits, quarantine them for two weeks and use separate equipment and clothing to care for them.
- If you are a wildlife rehabilitator who cares for wild rabbits, do not keep domestic rabbits as pets or have contact with domestic rabbits; maintain good disinfection techniques and change PPE between rabbit litters or individual rabbits.
- If you are a rabbit or hare hunter, avoid contact with domestic rabbits, and do not bring rabbit carcasses killed in other states to New York.
- If you are a hiker, camper, or traveler, and you have been to known RHDV2 outbreak areas in Colorado, southern Califor-

Fragale has already played in two scrimmages with the Blaze, with the PBL regular season expected to tip off this January.

Fragale's Western New York team is new to the league this year, but that shouldn't all be unfamiliar territory for the Baldwinsville native. He came to SUNY Delhi in 2016-17 as the basketball team began its second season as a four-year program and was a key component in the Broncos' success when it started its NCAA Division III transition in 2017-18. But it was his junior and senior seasons where he made his biggest impact as the Broncos captured a pair of American Collegiate Athletic Association (ACAA) championships. He was named the 2018-19 ACAA Tournament MVP after making the game-winning baskets in both playoff games in the closing seconds in comeback victories. He followed this by turning in an ACAA Player of the Year season in 2019-20 as Delhi finished with 21 wins and cruised to its second consecutive league crown. The three-and-a-half-year starting point guard was named a USCAA All-American Honorable Mention his sophomore and junior seasons and elevated his status to First Team All-American as a senior.

"I've always wanted to continue my basketball career after college, ever since even freshman year. Obviously, the end goal was to make it overseas but with all of the COVID stuff going on right now it's kind of difficult, so I'm happy to be able and play basketball right now when really many people can't at the moment," Fragale said. "I like the idea of that it's the first year, and I like being a part of making up a new culture of a team, and just being a part of something that you can just start on your own basically, and just kind of incorporate all of the things that you like into a new program."

656, Fragale overcame a myriad of obstacles associated with the current COVID-19 pandemic for his shot at playing professional. For starters, his senior season was cut short shortly after he and the Broncos secured a 70-56 first-round win over Holy Family in the USCAA National Tournament to advance to the Final Four. The USCAA National Tournament was something Fragale and his teammates set their sights on since freshman year. Like everyone else, all the team could do was group together, call it season, and focus on finishing the semester strong. Fragale continued to complete his bachelor's degree in Recreation and Sports Management when the opportunity in the PBL presented itself.

After attending showcases in Las Vegas and Atlanta over the summer, Fragale signed with Top 5 Sports Management. The opportunity to join the PBL arrived when he participated in fellow Western New York league member Rochester Razorsharks' combine. Fragale was invited to join their training camp before ultimately signing with Buffalo. The green and gold's number 23 for four seasons is the latest Bronco under Coach Thomsen to secure a professional basketball contract. The one other is Fragale's former teammate David Haye '17, who he says served as a great mentor in transitioning to the pro game.

the cancellation of Hall of Fame Weekend because of restrictions due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Kaegel received 183 votes from the 374 ballots, including three blanks, cast by BBWAA members with 10 or more consecutive years' service, in becoming the 72nd winner of the award since its inception in 1962 and named for the first recipient. Spink was a driving force of the Sporting News, known during his lifetime as the "Baseball Bible." The late Marty Noble, a staple of New York press boxes for more than four decades, received 115 votes. Allan Simpson, the former minor-league executive who founded the influential publication Baseball America, got 73.

For versatility over a career spanning 53 years, Kaegel may have had no peer. In addition to his coverage of the St. Louis Cardinals and the Kansas City Royals, he served as editor-in-chief of the Sporting News, where circulation spiked during his stewardship from 1979-85. He spent one spring as a player to inform readers about his experience. And in an amazing feat of endurance, Kaegel covered all 162 games of the Royals' season in 2011, just four years after undergoing liver transplant surgery.

Kaegel's career took him from the bi-weekly Granite City (Ill.) Press Record in 1964 to coverage of the Cardinals for the St. Louis Post Dispatch for 12 years and a more than two-decade stint of Royals coverage for the Kansas City Star and MLB.com. One spring for the Sporting News, he worked out with the Baltimore Orioles of Frank Robinson, Brooks Robinson and Jim Palmer and filed weekly reports. Kaegel edited the magazine with reverence for the game and kept box scores for the entirety of his tenure, a feat of which he is still proud.

Kaegel served several terms as chair of the Kansas City Chapter of the BBWAA and twice served on the Hall of Fame's Golden Era Committee. His wire-to-wire coverage of the Royals in 2011 remains a staggering achievement for any baseball writer.
