Mandatory 10-Digit Dialing Effective Next Month

Effective Oct. 24, 2021, mandatory 10-digit local dialing is required for all customers in the New York 516, 607, 716, 845 and 914 Area Code. This is due to a recent FCC ruling that designates the three digit hotline 988 as the National Suicide Prevention Hotline. This means phone users will no longer be able to dial "local" seven-digit numbers. All calls will need to include the area code as well. More information can at www.fcc.gov/suicide-prevention-hotline.

HOROSCOPES

ARIES - MAR 21/APR 20
Aries, this week will challenge your flexibility. It's possible you will have to change plans on the fly to accommodate developments at work or at home.

TAURUS - APR 21/MAY 21
Taurus, rather than trying to figure out why everyone is acting as they are, accept things and go with the flow. You will be much happier for it.

GEMINI - MAY 22/JUN 21
You are capable of dealing with intense emotional energy most of the time, Gemini. So when someone needs a friend to confide in, you are the right person for the job.

CANCER - JUN 22/JUL 22
Cancer, normally you are an easygoing person. But something this week has you rattled and you may be all fired up about it. Redirect that energy to some projects around the house.

LEO - JUL 23/AUG 23
Leo, try to stay away from conflict this week; otherwise, you may be pulled in one direction or another. It is important to remain neutral, especially at work.

VIRGO - AUG 24/SEPT 22
Virgo, don't worry too much about what other people consider to be right and wrong. Stick to your ideals and you won't be guided off course. You will find someone in your corner.

LIBRA - SEPT 23/OCT 23
This is a great week to bring your mind into focus and set a firm plan for the next several months, Libra. Now is the time to make an important decision.

SCORPIO - OCT 24/NOV 22
Scorpio, if your emotions suddenly seem more intense, you may need to change your social circle and find one that aligns better with your point of view.

SAGITTARIUS - NOV 23/DEC 21
Strong forces may be working against you, Sagittarius. But you won't let them derail your plans. Stay the course and things will work out just fine.

CAPRICORN - DEC 22/JAN 20
Capricorn, keep conversations light and away from any controversial topics as you meet new people in the days ahead. Let them take the lead in conversation.

AQUARIUS - JAN 21/FEB 18
There is a great deal of opportunity and potential to follow through on some major projects this week, Aquarius. It's up to you whether you're looking for work or fun.

PISCES - FEB 19/MAR 20
Pisces, this may be an eventful week marked by some disruptions to your normal routine. Stay calm in the face of conflict.

UNIQUE WAYS TO CELEBRATE LABOR DAY

Labor Day (or Labour Day in Canada) was created by the labor movement to shine light on the achievements and contributions of workers. Without hardworking men and women, the economy would not thrive and the prosperity of a nation would be unlikely.

Like many other holidays, Labor Day's message may play second fiddle to the more widespread celebrations that take place. It's easy to think that Labor Day commemorates the unofficial end of summer rather than the North American worker, but those who want to celebrate more mindfully can consider these ideas.

- Research local industry and schedule a tour of a factory, farm or another place of business that ties into this industry.
- While many people are off on Labor Day, essential workers may not be. Bring lunch to a police station or firehouse, or simply thank workers you come across, such as grocery store employees, for doing their jobs.
- Active military who are deployed may be missing home, especially during national holidays. Send a care package to them that they can enjoy overseas.

- Purchase items made domestically to support national industry.
- Bosses can reach out to employees with words of praise and encouragement. Too often employees are told what they need to improve rather than what they are doing right. A few words of gratitude can buoy spirits.

- Employers can start the three-day weekend early by enabling workers to leave a few hours early on the Friday preceding the holiday weekend.
- Organize a company-based competition, like a chili cook-off, pie-eating contest or video game competition. This can boost morale and strengthen connections among staff.

Labor Day is often dominated by backyard barbecues and trips to the beach. Those who want to be more in touch with the meaning behind the holiday can look for additional ways to celebrate it.

TRAVEL SAFELY THIS LABOR DAY

Labor Day is a celebration of workers and the labor movements in the United States and Canada. Often considered the unofficial end of summer, Labor Day prompts many people to travel for one last getaway prior to the arrival of fall.

Labor Day get-togethers with family and friends typically include barbecues and other outdoor activities, and these gatherings may attract loved ones from various areas of the country. The National Safety Council warns that thousands of people will be injured in traffic accidents during the upcoming Labor Day weekend. In recent years, traffic fatalities over Labor Day weekend have averaged around 15 percent higher than in similar, non-holiday periods, says the NSC. In addition, the COVID-19 virus, although diminished, is still at large. Travelers are urged to remain diligent in regard to hygiene and other safety practices. The following tips can help Labor Day travelers stay as safe as possible.

• Call ahead and inquire about any travel restrictions. Many areas of the country have reopened, but it is important to find out if there are restrictions on crowd limits or if certain facilities are closed.

• Book early and leave time for travel. People are increasingly anxious to travel once again, and may wait until the Labor Day holiday to do so. Hotels and other amenities may fill up fast, so book travel plans well in advance and leave ample time for traveling to account for large crowds and busy roadways.

• Enforce a zero tolerance policy for intoxicated driving. Those who are planning to drink should never get behind the wheel. Also, young drivers are at particular risk to be involved in alcohol-related crashes, so teens and underage young adults should not be allowed to drink at parties.

• Limit distractions behind the wheel. Make a policy that the vehicle is a distraction-free zone. This includes keeping the radio low, stowing the driver's cell phone out of reach so texts or other notifications do not become distractions and helping to keep children occupied so they're not making a ruckus.

• Exercise caution in inclement weather. Late-summer storms can roll in and cause downpours. Drive slowly and cautiously, pulling over until visibility and conditions improve, if necessary.

These are some ways travelers can emphasize safety as they enjoy Labor Day weekend away from home.

MONEY

How to Break Your Family's Money Talk Taboo

(StatePoint) Do you and your family regularly discuss money matters or do you shy away from the subject? Experts note that money talk taboos are common among American families and that this needs to change.

"For many families, money is a topic we don't openly discuss. But by avoiding these discussions, we're inhibiting information flow around the best use of money," says Michael Liersch, head of Advice and Planning for Wells Fargo's Wealth & Investment Management division.

Liersch, who is a behavioral scientist and currently leads a team at Wells Fargo & Company responsible for developing research-based methods to help advisors and clients collaborate around money decisions, is hosting a new podcast. "About Money" focuses on breaking the money talk taboo and offers practical advice for having productive conversations about financial decision-making.

According to Liersch, here are a few ways some families view conversations around money:

- It's just gauche. It can make people feel uncomfortable, embarrassed or bad, so don't do it.
- It can disrupt harmony and spur arguments because ultimately, it's airing dirty laundry, revisiting bad decisions or revealing serious personality conflicts around spending, saving and investing.

- It can reveal different reference points. For example, someone with more money can make those with less feel bad about themselves.

- It can make those without a lot of knowledge feel exposed by what they don't know and those with a lot of knowledge feel like a know-it-all.

Whatever your family's reasons for dodging dollars and cents around the dinner table, Liersch offers these tips for starting the conversation:

1. Write down your responses to the following questions. What's the number one thing you want money to do for you? Do you feel you have enough -- just enough, more than enough, or not enough -- to get that job done? What's holding you back from getting the job done? What could you do to make sure that it does? Who do you need to talk to or what resources do you need?

2. Store these answers in a secure, handy location.

3. Have conversations with those that may be impacted by the conclusions reached, such as your partner, children and parents, and then collaborate with them on next steps.

4. Set aside time regularly to focus on this information and to take incremental steps toward making your money work for you.

For more insights, download the 10-episode "About Money" podcast on Spotify by visiting conversations.wf.com. To learn more, visit lifescapes.wellsfargoadvisors.com.

"No one is born with the knowledge of how to use money. It's an abstract concept -- like language. And like language, if you wait too long to learn it, you'll never master becoming a native speaker," says Liersch. "Today, as I sit around the kitchen table with my family, all topics are fair game, including those money-related topics that used to be taboo."
